HON. R. W. TAYLER'S ADDRESS

The Congressman Made Any Number of Happy Hits, and the Crowd Was Attentive—The Train Was Delayed by the Many People at New Philadelphia, Uhrichsville and Steubenville, and Was an Hour and a Half Late Reaching the City—The Crowd Was Patient and Waited—Exercises After the Generals Arrived.

All things worked together for one end today. The weather was all the most fastidious could ask, the people thronged the streets by the thousands, there was enthusiasm without end, and the brave old Union generals and Hon. R. W.
Tayler were given a reception seldom accorded any one at a political meeting, even in East Liverpool.

The arrangements were well made.
There were no mistakes, and the committees in charge of the different departments completed their work long before the special train bearing the distinguished party arrived in the city. It was generally known that the occasion would be observed throughout the city, and the potteries would do no work during the afternoon.
For that reason any number of people did not appear in their usual places this morning, and there was an unusual stir on the streets. Decorators along the line of march were early at work, and before noon all the principal buildings on the upper part of Second street and the whole of Broadway were gaily dressed. There were pictures of Mc-Kinley everywhere. The face so familiar to East Liverpool stared boldly from window frames or peeped from the clinging folds of bunting. The effects were in some instances artistic, and in others beautiful, while all clearly showed the patriotism of those who would give honor to the guests of the city. The national colors flew from the tall flag staff at Central school building, and throughout the city there were decorations. Everybody knew it was to be the greatest meeting of the campaign, and one of the greatest the city ever experienced, and everybody wanted to add what they could to the occasion.

The meeting had been extensively advertised, and people came from the country to hear the generals talk.
Wellsville sent a delegation, and the East End was here in force. St. Clair and Madison townships were well represented in the big crowd, and Virginia poured a large number of people into the city. It was a good natured crowd, one of those large assemblages, filled to the brim with enthusiasm and ready to cheer when opportunity offered.

Every preparation was made to receive them. A stand was erected at the intersection of Fifth and Broadway, and the seats provided for many. The seats were brought from the rink, and when all these had been placed in position the committee decided they did not give sufficient accommodations. Then they got planks, and placing them on supports made it possible for many others to hear the generals without standing. The stand was tastefully decorated with bunting and autumn leaves, and presented a pretty appearance. Col. John N. Taylor, W. L. Smith and others went to Steubenville to meet the special, and see that the gentlemen came to town in a manner worthy their position. Col. H. R. Hill, N. A. Frederick, W. T. McCain and Capt. J. A. Myers were chosen to meet the gentlemen at the station, and welcome them to the city. Nothing was left undone, and all was in readiness when the expected hour finally arrived.

HON. R. W. TAYLER

Talked Sensibly of the Tariff and Free Coinage.

Soon after 1 o'clock the first voters began to gather at Republican headquarters, and a fine looking lot of young men they are. They were headed by Haines' band, and marched to the Thompson House, where they met Hon.

R. W. Tayler. The gentleman was escorted to the stand at Fifth and Broadway, where he was received with cheers. President Surles, of the Patriotic league, was chairman of the meeting, and made an excellent address as he introduced Mr. Tayler. He referred to the occasion in a fitting manner, and did not forget a good word for the veterans. It was a patriotic rally in behalf of Comrade McKinley, he said, and the crowd at once cheered. "A few years ago he came among us a young man seeking a place."

Mr. Tayler, in spite of the fact that he has been speaking in the campaign for six weeks, never looked better than when he faced the audience. He began at the beginning, and reviewed at length the issues of the hour. Mr. Tayler said in part:

"Friends and Fellow Citizens—I am indeed delighted at this splendid evidence of the Republicanism of East Liverpool. It means that this is a year when the people are proud to be Republicans.
They are proud of their congressional district, and proud of the man who so long represented them, William Mc-Kinley. [Cheers.]

"The question is plain. Is it better to give the people of this country employment, or give employment to the people of some other nation.

"There were three things in 1892—a Republican tariff, a Republican currency and prosperity. There are three things in 1896—a Democratic tariff, a Republican currency and distress. Isn't it worse than folly to assert that the currency has anything to do with the distress? In 1892 Mr. Bryan complained that prices were too high, because under a robber tariff too high wages were paid. In 1896 he complains that prices are too low because he is after votes. In 1892 the idol of the Democracy was Grover Cleveland. Then he was almost too pure to look upon, and entirely too good to touch. Today he isn't even fit to be spit upon. While in 1892 he was said to have more courage than Jackson and more conscience than Lincoln, he is now the most contemptible man of modern times. And yet Mr. Cleveland faithfully and thoroughly executed the platform adopted by the Democratic convention in 1892. He did nothing more nor less than his full duty. This leads to the conclusion that if Cleveland was and is such a good Democrat, the party now masquerading under that name must be bogus; and indeed it is, for there is not a plank in the Democratic platform which is today being discussed which has any warrant to exist by virtue of any previous declaration of that great party.

"What is meant by the free and unlimited coinage of silver? It means that silver shall be coined without charge for coinage for any and every one who may bring silver to the mint, no matter how much, from whatever source or country obtained, and that the silver dollar shall weigh just 16 times as much as the gold dollar, no matter if the silver in the silver dollar is worth less than the gold in the gold dollar. To put it in another form: Any person who buys or produces silver bullion can take it to the mint and without charge have it coined into silver dollars, so that the silver he is now glad to dispose of for 50 cents shall be coined into a dollar, and he can force that dollar upon whosoever he may owe for labor or any thing else for 100 cents. Of course, if the coinage of 50 cents' worth of silver into a 100-cent dollar would make the silver worth as much as the dollar we now have, no one would be hurt, and the silver producers would make a clean gain of 50 cents on every dollar coined, and the silver producers would still further make an additional profit on the rate of present production of about $40-000,000 per year, to say nothing of the profit of over 60 per cent per ounce he would make on the silver bullion now in stock.

"You will not fail to note here what relation the people of this country and the government would sustain to the dollars coined under a free coinage act.
In such case the government would have no interest whatever in the transaction.
It would stamp on 371½ grains of pure silver that it was a dollar, and then inform whosoever might take it that it contained that amount of silver. Not a dollar of it would belong to the government, not a dollar of it would get into the public treasury. The mine owner would get back the silver he brought, every grain and every pennyweight of it.
The government would coin nothing for itself, but coin it all for private individuals.

"Lay down this proposition. Every dollar coined under a free coinage law must of necessity be worth exactly the same as the bullion or metal in the coin.
That is true now of our gold coins. Melt them and they remain the same value as when coined. The Mexican dollar is worth the same the instant before it is coined as when coined, and loses none of its value when melted down. Government cannot create value. It can give new names, and make new standards, but the quality it may put in the standard remains the same, no matter what the law may do. The government may call 50 cents worth of silver a dollar, and the name will be a dollar, but new dollars will be worth no more than 50 cents.

The old dollar will be as good as two new dollars. The only change made in the standard of value, when before 23.22 grains of gold were called a dollar, something worth just half as much was given the name. Do you suppose that giving 50 cents worth of silver the same name as we give 100 cents worth of gold will make the two equal in value?

"If this coinage of 50 cents worth of silver into dollars would not make dollars as good as we now have what would be the consequence?

"We would have silver monometallism; that is, we would be on a silver basis. The dollars would be worth the silver in a silver dollar. The whole basis of business would be changed, and it is well to pause and consider what must be the consequences of such a change. It vitally affects the wages and savings of the people, the pensions of our soldiers and the honor of our country, without doing anyone any good, unless it be the silver producers, who constitute the largest aggregation of money in the world, bound together in a common cause.

"The American people are this fall going to determine whether it is better to employ its own people than to give employment to some other country's people; whether it is better to supply our own wants, or to have some other people supply them; whether it is better to have prosperity at home, or to let somebody else have it at our expense;
and we are also going to decide whether,
when the American does an honest day's work, he is going to get paid for it in an honest dollar.

If McKinley is elected I know that business will go on. We will make the Democrats happy in spite of themselves.
Who is there that won't be happy when,
on the 4th day of November, the country is ringing with cheers for Mc-Kinley? Who is there who won't be happy when every man who wants work can get it. I remember four years ago when there was an outlook for development in this town that would give employment to 1,000 more.
There has not been anything like that in the last four years. Now my friends I am going to give way to a band.
I am not going to talk any more. My heart is in Canton, and my voice all over the district. I am going to hang on so that on the fourth of November I can do so much cheering I will have no voice at all."

Mr. Tayler was then presented with two handsome bouquets, the gifts of the Woman's Relief corps, and the band played.

To this time there had not been a hitch, and the people were preparing to go to the station when a telegram was read which announced delay. The intention of the railroads handling the trains was good, but the crowds at New Philadelphia, Uhrichsville and Steubenville were so great that the train was an hour and a half late leaving Steubenville.

THE GENERALS.

A Magnificent Ovation Was Tendered the Veterans.

The special reached Wellsville at 3:10, and although no stop had been provided for in the general program, the train came to a standstill, and the big crowd cheered continuously for several minutes.
No speeches were made, and at 4:18 the train started for this city, arriving at 4:30.

Many people, fearing they would not be at the station in time to see the special train arrive, gathered about the foot of Broadway and held their places until
the whistle of the engine announced the coming of the guests of the day. Then there was cheer after cheer. As the generals and their friends alighted from the train the excited crowd burst forth in the wildest sort of a demonstration.
People of all parties were there, and enthused by the sight of those crippled veterans, cheered and cheered again.

The reception committee took them in charge as soon as they left the train, and to the music of the band and cheers of the crowd the line of march to the speakers' stand was taken up. The sidewalks on Broadway were filled with an animated mass of humanity, and the cheering was continuous. The high school had been dismissed before 2 o'clock, and many students were in the crowd, and the other schools had suspended work half an hour later. No program had been arranged for them, but Superintendent

children, and they enjoyed the holiday immensely.

The mounted escort lead the way, and the carriages containing the generals followed. When the cannon announced the presence of the generals in the city there was an immense crowd at the speakers' stand, and as the first ranks of the parade came over the brow of the hill the cheering was loud and long.
There was a crush, but the officers had provided for it, and the distinguished party were taken to the platform. Their appearance was the signal for more cheering, and it would have been difficult to hear a cannon in that vast assemblage. General Alger was the first speaker.

As the NEWS REVIEW goes to press the generals are still speaking, and each is being interrupted by thunderous applause.

ALL OF THEM.

The Old Generals and Who Accompanied Them.

The distinguished party for the trip through Ohio is made up of the following:

General Russell A. Alger, of Michigan;
General Daniel E. Sickles, General O.
O. Howard, General Thomas J. Stewart,
of Philadelphia, Pa.; General G. A.
Marden, of Lowell, Mass.; Corporal
James Tanner, of New York; Lem
Wiley, the bugler of the party; Major
J. W. Burst, of Illinois; Colonel G. H.
Hopkins, of Detroit, Mich.; Joseph Greusel, of The Journal, Detroit, Mich.; Colonel L. N. Walker, of Indianapolis; Hon. William Kirkby, railroad commissioner of Ohio; James McMillan, inspector, railroad commissioner's department; A. T. Wyckoff, canal commissioner of Ohio; W. H. Eggleston, representing the Cincinnati Commercial; H.
M. Davies, of Marietta, O., Associated Press; J. H. Smith, of Cleveland, O., secretary of the party; W. L. Weaver, of Springfield, O., candidate for congress; J. N. Van Deman, county chairman, of Washington, C. H., O.; Charles L. Thurber, of Columbus, representing the state committee; George U. Marvin, of the Cleveland Leader.

Hon. R. W. Tayler arrived in the city yesterday morning, and received many callers at the Thompson house.
He will leave with the generals this afternoon, and will be a member of the party until after the meetings are held in Cleveland.

ALLEN COOK'S MEETING.

He had a Crowd in the Diamond, but They Were Democrats.

Allen Cook, the Canton attorney who believes he should sit on the judicial bench, talked for over two hours in the Diamond on Saturday night. He praised Bryan, said a word or two for General Sherwood, and discussed free silver at length. He acknowledged that Major McKinley was an honored and respected resident of Canton. His crowd was made up in the main of Democrats, and they remained with him. There were few Republicans present.

To See Sickles.

J. R. Hastings, of Clarkson, a member of Warren Post, Grand Army, came to East Liverpool today to see the gallant General Sickles, and have a hand shake with that heroic soldier.
We will give a fuller account of scenes at Gettysburg in tomorrow's issue.

WEST VIRGINIA ALL RIGHT.

Fifteen Counties at Least Are Solid For McKinley.

J. F. Bradshaw, who travels in West Virginia for the Union pottery, arrived home today. He says that he drove through 15 counties of the state, and called upon several hundred merchants, and found a strong McKinley sentiment.
Mr. Bradshaw had the best kind of an opportunity to obtain the political views of the people, and believes the state will give McKinley 20,000 plurality. Mr.
Bradshaw is a veteran of the late war.

DIED IN PITTSBURG.

Henry Shiffbauer Passed Away Yesterday Morning.

Henry Shiffbauer, who was taken to the West Penn hospital two months ago in order that a growth be removed from his back, died in that institution yesterday morning. He was ill for several years, and suffered a great deal the last few months of his life. The body will be brought to this city for interment. He leaves a wife and three children.

A ROW ON SMOKY.

Politics at the Bottom of a Hard Fought Battle.

A blacksmith named McCuen became involved in a row with a bridge workman this morning, at the corner of Union and Second streets, and the battle raged fiercely. Both were knocked down several times, and the men eventually decided to quit. A big crowd collected, but there were no arrests.

Diphtheria Claims the Life of a Little One.

FOUR NEW CASES WERE REPORTED

the Authorities Are Doing All They Can to Keep It In Bounds—It Broke Out Again Saturday.

The health department has been rude informed that diphtheria has not gone from the city, and there is yet danger from the awful disease.

The officers noticed a few days ago that diphtheria was decreasing. No new cases were reported, and the afflicted were discharged one by one until only a few cases were found in the city. The reaction came Saturday evening when it was reported that Charley Thomas, of Seventh street, had contracted the disease. A quarantine was established, and the usual precautions taken. Then came the report of a case in the family of James Duke, Calcutta road, and another at the residence of Thomas Croxall, of Robinson street.
Added to this was the serious illness of a child of William Ivers, of Cadmus street. The child has been ill for several days, and died last night at 11 o'clock.
Other members of the family are ill with the disease, and were reported to Doctor Ogden today.

Doctor Ogden and Officer King are leaving nothing undone that will keep

ADJUSTING DIFFICULTIES.

William T. Burton Sues His Old Partner, W. H. Williams.

LISBON, Oct. 19.—[Special.]—A suit to adjust the partnership difficulties between William T. Burton and William H. Williams, was filed in court this morning. Williams, E. D. Marshall and J. H. Brookes being the defendants.
Two years ago Burton & Williams borrowed $600 from the First National bank, and had dissolved partnership before the note was due. A judgment was obtained, and to save his home Burton paid the whole amount when he was only liable for half. He claims Williams transferred property to Mayor Gilbert and he
to Mrs. Williams, and Burton wants that sold to satisfy his claim. E. D.
Marshall and J. H. Brookes have some interest in the property.

THE DAY IS SET.

The Lutheran Church Will Be Dedicated
Nov. 22.

Work has progressed so far on the German Lutheran church that Reverend Reinartz has decided to conduct the dedicatory services Nov. 22. A number of ministers from out of the city will be present, and the occasion will be an event in which the members of the congregation will take great interest. The structure is being finished rapidly, and when done will be one of the handsomest in the city. Judge Smith today granted the trustees permission to borrow

A DEAD HORSE.

It Has Been For Several Days on Bank Street.

Residents of the upper part of the city are after the authorities because a dead horse has been lying on Bank street for several days. The poor old animal wandered around for several days, and becoming disgusted with the treatment it received from the small boys, laid down and died. The animal has been where it is at present since last week, and residents believe it should be carted away and buried.

NO MORE SIGNS

Will Be Allowed to Decorate the Soldiers' Monument.

The Diamond pump committee after tomorrow will not allow banners of any kind to be placed on or about the fence at the soldiers' monument. The rule was made necessary owing to the fact that every person who had anything to advertise seemed to think the fence was placed around the monument for their express benefit.

THE POTS BROKE.

An Accident at the Specialty Caused by Short Gas.

A number of employees of the Specialty are working half time because of an accident which occurred last week.
When the gas was short five pots cracked, and it was necessary to make repairs. Work is being rushed, and the damage will be repaired as soon as possible.

Will Hold a Social.

At the close of the business session tomorrow evening, the Daughters of America will hold a social.

HON. R. W. TAYLER'S ADDRESS

The Congressman Made Any Number of

Urichsville and Steubenville, and Was an Hour and a Half Late Reaching the
Wanted—Exercises After the Generals Arrived.

All things worked together for one
end today. The weather was all the most fastidious could ask, the people thronged
the streets by the thousands, there was
enthusiasm without end, and the brave
old Union generals and Hon. R. W.
Tayler were given a reception seldom
accorded any one at a political meeting,
even in East Liverpool.

The arrangements were well made.
There were no mistakes, and the committees in charge of the different departments completed their work
long before the special train
bearing the distinguished party arrived in the city. It was generally known that the occasion would be observed through-
out the city, and the potteries would
do no work during the afternoon.
For that reason any number of people
did not appear in their usual places this
before noon all the principal buildings
on the upper part of Second street and
the whole of Broadway were gaily
dressed. There were pictures of Mc-Kinley everywhere. The face so familiar
window frames or peeped from the clinging folds of bunting. The effects were
beautiful, while all clearly showed the
patriotism of those who would give
honor to the guests of the city. The
national colors flew from the tall flag
staff at Central school building, and throughout the city there were decorations.
Everybody knew it was to be
the greatest meeting of the campaign,
and one of the greatest the city ever experienced, and everybody wanted to add
what they could to the occasion.

vertised, and people came from the country to hear the generals talk.
Wellsville sent a delegation, and the East End was here in force. St. Clair
and Madison townships were well represented in the big crowd, and Virginia poured a large number of peo-
crowd, one of those large assemblages,
filled to the brim with enthusiasm and ready to cheer when opportunity offered.

Every preparation was made to receive them. A stand was erected at the intersection of Fifth and Broadway, and seats provided for many. The seats were brought from the rink, and when
all these had been placed in position the
committee decided they did not give
got planks, and placing them on supports made it possible for many others
to hear the generals without standing. The stand was tastefully decorated with bunting and autumn
leaves, and presented a pretty appearance. Col. John N. Taylor, W. L. Smith and others went to Steubenville to meet the special, and see that the gentlemen came to town in a manner worthy their position. Col. H. R. Hill, N. A. Frederick, W. T. McCain and
Capt. J. A. Myers were chosen to meet the gentlemen at the station, and welcome them to the city. Nothing was left

HON. R. W. TAYLER

Coinage.

Soon after 1 o'clock the first voters began to gather at Republican headquar-

men they are. They were headed by Haines' band, and marched to the Thompson House, where they met Hon.
R. W. Tayler. The gentleman was escorted to the stand at Fifth and Broadway, where he was received with
cheers. President Surles, of the Patriotic league, was chairman of the
as he introduced Mr. Tayler. He referred to the occasion in a fitting manner,
and did not forget a good word for the veterans. It was a patriotic rally in behalf of Comrade McKinley, he said, and
the crowd at once cheered. "A few years ago he came among us a young man seeking a place."

Mr. Tayler, in spite of the fact that
for six weeks, never looked better than
when he faced the audience. He began
at the beginning, and reviewed at length
in part:

"Friends and Fellow Citizens—I am indeed delighted at this splendid evidence of the Republicanism of East Liverpool. It means that this is a year when the people are proud to be Republicans.
They are proud of their congressional
district, and proud of the man who so
Kinley. [Cheers.]

"The question is plain. Is it better to give the people of this country employment, or give employment to the people of some other nation.

"There were three things in 1892—a Republican tariff, a Republican currency and prosperity. There are three things in 1896—a Democratic tariff, a Republican currency and distress. Isn't it worse than folly to assert that the
distress? In 1892 Mr. Bryan complained that prices were too high, because under
a robber tariff too high wages were
paid. In 1896 he complains that prices are too low because he is after
Democracy was Grover Cleveland.
Then he was almost too pure to look upon, and entirely too good to touch. Today he isn't even fit to be spit upon. While in 1892 he was said to have more courage than Jackson and more conscience than Lincoln, he is now
the most contemptible man of modern
times. And yet Mr. Cleveland faithfully
and thoroughly executed the platform
adopted by the Democratic convention
in 1892. He did nothing more nor less than his full duty. This leads to the
such a good Democrat, the party now masquerading under that name must be
plank in the Democratic platform which
vious declaration of that party.

"What is meant by the free and unlimited coinage of silver? It means that silver shall be coined without charge for
matter how much, from whatever
source or country obtained, and
the gold dollar, no matter if
less than the gold in the gold dollar. To
buys or produces silver bullion can take
it to the mint and without charge have
it coined into silver dollars, so that the
silver he is now glad to dispose of for 50 cents shall be coined into a dollar, and
he can force that dollar upon whosoever
he may owe for labor or anything else for 100 cents. Of course, if the coinage of 50 cents' worth of silver into a 100-cent dollar would make
the silver worth as much as the dollar
we now have, no one would be hurt, and
the silver producers would make a clean
gain of 50 cents on every dollar coined,
and the silver producers would still
further make an additional profit on the rate of present production of about $40-000,000 per year, to say nothing of the
profit of over 60 per cent per ounce he would make on the silver bullion now
in stock.

"You will not fail to note here what
dollars coined under a free coinage act.
In such case the government would have
no interest whatever in the transaction.
It would stamp on 371½ grains of pure
silver that it was a dollar, and then inform whoever might take it that it contained that amount of silver. Not a dollar of it would belong to the government, not a dollar of it would get into
the public treasury. The mine owner
would get back the silver he brought, every grain and every pennyweight of it. The government would coin nothing for itself, but coin it all for private individuals.

"Lay down this proposition. Every
must of necessity be worth exactly the same as the bullion or metal in the coin.
That is true now of our gold coins. Melt

when coined. The Mexican dollar is worth the same the instant before it
is coined as when coined, and loses none
of its value when melted down. Government cannot create value. It can give
new names, and make new standards,
but the quality it may put in the standard remains the same, no matter what
the law may do. The government may
call 50 cents worth of silver a dollar, and
the name will be a dollar, but new dollars will be worth no more than 50 cents.
The old dollar will be as good as two new dollars. The only change made was in the standard of value, when before 23.22 grains of gold were
called a dollar, something worth just
half as much was given the name. Do you suppose that giving 50 cents' worth
of silver the same name as we give 100
cents' worth of gold will make the two
equal in value?

silver into dollars would not make
dollars as good as we now have what would be the consequence?

"We would have silver monometallism; that is, we would be on a
the silver in a silver dollar. The whole
basis of business would be changed, and
must be the consequences of such a change. It vitally affects the wages and
savings of the people, the pensions of
our soldiers and the honor of our country, without doing anyone any good,
constitute the largest aggregation of
money in the world, bound together in a common cause.

"The American people are this
fall going to determine whether it is better to employ its own people
supply our own wants, or to have some
better to have prosperity at home, or to let somebody else have it at our expense;
and we are also going to decide whether,
when the American does an honest day's work, he is going to get paid for it in an honest dollar.

If McKinley is elected I know that
Democrats happy in spite of themselves.
Who is there that won't be happy when,
on the 4th day of November, the country is ringing with cheers for Mc-Kinley? Who is there who won't be happy when every man who wants work
can get it. I remember four years ago when there was an outlook for development in this town that would give employment to 1,000 more.
There has not been anything like that in the last four years. Now my friends I am going to give way to a band.
I am not going to talk any more. My heart is in Canton, and my voice all over
the district. I am going to hang on so that on the fourth of November I can do so much cheering I will have no voice at
all."

Mr. Tayler was then presented with two handsome bouquets, the gifts of the
played.

To this time there had not been a
go to the station when a telegram was read which announced delay. The intention of the railroads handling the
trains was good, but the crowds at New Philadelphia, Urichsville and Steubenville were so great that the train was an hour and a half late leaving Steubenville.

THE GENERALS.

A Magnificent Ovation Was Tendered the Veterans.

The special reached Wellsville at 3:10,
and although no stop had been provided for in the general program, the train
came to a standstill, and the big crowd
cheered continuously for several minutes.
train started for this city, arriving at 4:30.

Many people, fearing they would not
be at the station in time to see the special train arrive, gathered about the foot of
coming of the guests of the day. Then there was cheer after cheer. As the generals and their friends alighted from
the train the excited crowd burst forth in the wildest sort of a demonstration.
People of all parties were there, and enthusiasm by the sight of those crippled veterans, cheered and cheered again.

charge as soon as they left the train,
and to the music of the band and cheers
sidewalks on Broadway were filled with an animated mass of humanity, and the cheering was continuous. The high school had been
students were in the crowd, and the
other schools had suspended work half an hour later. No program had been arranged for them, but Superintendent

children, and they enjoyed the holiday
immensely.

The mounted escort lead the way, and
the carriages containing the generals
followed. When the cannon announced
the presence of the generals in the city
there was an immense crowd at the
the parade came over the brow of the hill the cheering was loud and long.
There was a crush, but the officers had
provided for it, and the distinguished party were taken to the platform. Their appearance was
the signal for more cheering, and it would have been difficult to hear a cannon in that vast assemblage. General Alger was the first speaker.

As the NEWS REVIEW goes to press
the generals are still speaking, and each
is being interrupted by thunderous applause.

The Old Generals and Who Accompanied Them.

The distinguished party for the trip through Ohio is made up of the following:

General Daniel E. Sickles, General O.
O. Howard, General Thomas J. Stewart,
of Philadelphia, Pa.; General G. A.
Marden, of Lowell, Mass.; Corporal
James Tanner, of New York; Lem
J. W. Burst, of Illinois; Colonel G. H.
Grensel, of The Journal, Detroit, Mich.; Colonel I. N. Walker, of Indianapolis; Hon. William Kirkby, railroad commissioner of Ohio; James McMillan, inspector, railroad commissioner's department; A. T. Wyckoff, canal commissioner of Ohio; W. H. Eggleston, representing the Cincinnati Commercial; H.
M. Dawes, of Marietta, O., Associated Press; J. H. Smith, of Cleveland, O., secretary of the party; W. L. Weaver,
of Springfield, O., candidate for congress; J. N. Van Deman, county chair-
man, of Washington, C. H., O.; Charles
L. Thurber, of Columbus, representing
of the Cleveland Leader.

Hon. R. W. Tayler arrived in the city yesterday morning, and received
many callers at the Thompson house.
He will leave with the generals
this afternoon, and will be a member of the party until after the meetings are

ALLEN COOK'S MEETING.

He had a Crowd in the Diamond, but They Were Democrats.

Allen Cook, the Canton attorney who
believes he should sit on the judicial
bench, talked for over two hours in the Diamond on Saturday night. He praised
Bryan, said a word or two for General Sherwood, and discussed free silver at length. He acknowledged that Major McKinley was an honored and respected
resident of Canton. His crowd was made up in the main of Democrats,
and they remained with him. There

To See Sickles.

J. R. Hastings, of Clarkson, a member of Warren Post, Grand Army,
came to East Liverpool today to see the gallant General Sickles, and have a
hand shake with that heroic soldier.
We will give a fuller account of scenes
at Gettysburg in tomorrow's issue.

WEST VIRGINIA ALL RIGHT.

Fifteen Counties at Least Are Solid For McKinley.

J. F. Bradshaw, who travels in West Virginia for the Union pottery, arrived home today. He says that he drove through 15 counties of the state, and
called upon several hundred merchants,
and found a strong McKinley sentiment.
Mr. Bradshaw had the best kind of an opportunity to obtain the political views
of the people, and believes the state will
give McKinley 20,000 plurality. Mr.

DIED IN PITTSBURGH.

Henry Shiffbauer Passed Away Yester- day Morning.

Henry Shiffbauer, who was taken to
the West Penn hospital two months ago
in order that a growth be removed from
his back, died in that institution yesterday morning. He was ill for several years, and suffered a great deal the last few months of his life. The body will be

A ROW ON SMOKY.

Politics at the Bottom of a Hard Fought Battle.

A blacksmith named McCuen became
man this morning, at the corner of Union and Second streets, and the battle raged fiercely. Both were knocked down several times, and the men eventually decided to quit. A big crowd collected, but there were no arrests.

Diphtheria Claims the Life of a Little One.

FOUR NEW CASES WERE REPORTED

the Authorities Are Doing All They Can
to Keep It In Bounds—It Broke Out Again Saturday.

The health department has been
gone from the city, and there is yet danger from the awful disease.

The officers noticed a few days ago
that diphtheria was decreasing. No
new cases were reported, and the
until only a few cases were found in the city. The reaction came Saturday evening when it was reported that Charley Thomas, of Seventh street, had contracted the disease. A quarantine was established, and the usual precautions
taken. Then came the report of a case in the family of James Duke, Calcutta
Thomas Croxall, of Robinson street.
Added to this was the serious illness of
a child of William Ivers, of Cadmus street. The child has been ill for several days, and died last night at 11 o'clock.
Other members of the family are ill with the disease, and were reported to Doctor Ogden today.

Doctor Ogden and Officer King are leaving nothing undone that will keep

William T. Burton Sues His Old Partner, W. H. Williams.

Lisbon, Oct. 19.—[Special.]—A suit to
tween William T. Burton and William H. Williams, was filed in court this morning, Williams, E. D. Marshall and
J. H. Brookes being the defendants.
Two years ago Burton & Williams
borrowed $600 from the First National bank, and had dissolved partnership before the note was due. A judgment was obtained, and to save his home Burton
paid the whole amount when he was only liable for half. He claims Williams transferred property to Mayor Gilbert and he
to Mrs. Williams, and Burton wants
that sold to satisfy his claim. E. D.
Marshall and J. H. Brookes have some

The Lutheran Church Will Be Dedicated Nov. 22.

Work has progressed so far on the German Lutheran church that Reverend Reinartz has decided to conduct the dedicatory services Nov. 22. A number
of ministers from out of the city will be
event in which the members of the congregation will take great interest. The structure is being finished rapidly, and
when done will be one of the hand-
granted the trustees permission to borrow

A DEAD HORSE.

It Has Been For Several Days on Bank Street.

Residents of the upper part of the city
are after the authorities because a dead
horse has been lying on Bank street for several days. The poor old animal wandered around for several days, and becoming disgusted with the treatment it
received from the small boys, laid down
and died. The animal has been where it is at present since last week, and residents believe it should be carted away
and buried.

NO MORE SIGNS

Will Be Allowed to Decorate the Soldiers' Monument.

The Diamond pump committee after
tomorrow will not allow banners of any
at the soldiers' monument. The rule was made necessary owing to the fact that every person who had anything to advertise seemed to think the fence was placed around the monument for their
express benefit.

THE POTS BROKE.

An Accident at the Specialty Caused by Short Gas.

A number of employees of the Specialty are working half time because of
an accident which occurred last week.
When the gas was short five pots
cracked, and it was necessary to make repairs. Work is being rushed, and the damage will be repaired as soon as possible.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN told a committee of pottery workers that laborers' wages were sufficient for the skilled workmen employed in our potteries.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN was a hot advocate of the Wilson bill. The Wilson bill has cursed, with a terrible, bitter curse, the workmen and mechanics of this land.

SOME six years since, William Jennings Bryan declared that the wages of men who worked in shops were too high. He is now begging for the votes of skilled labor. Will he get them? Nit.

UNION glassworkers, when your representatives appeared before the committee on ways and means, William Jennings Bryan, a member of that committee, denounced your comrades as public beggars.

THE infamous Wilson bill caused a heavy cut in the wages of the pottery workers of East Liverpool. Bryan, candidate for the presidency of the silver wing of Democracy, was Wilson's right hand man. Yet William Jennings Bryan dares to ask the pottery workers of East Liverpool to vote for him.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY, of Canton, has always and ever been the warm friend and advocate of the pottery workers of the country. He has done more than any other statesman in this great nation to protect the pottery industry and secure good wages to the workmen engaged therein. He is the apostle of apostles for protection to home industries.

IT WAS A GREAT MEETING.

It was a great meeting, an outpouring of the people to honor men who have already won honor. Those gray haired veterans who stood this afternoon before that great crowd and denounced the foes of the nation in no uncertain words are men who on other occasions found it necessary to defend our country from the assaults of its enemies. Then they drew their swords, and with a patriotism which even their foes were compelled to respect, battled for the right. It was but natural that they should do it again when the foes of national honesty and honor arose as one man, and, with a fierceness born of some sentiment not yet made plain, attacked the principle upon which is founded the liberty of the people; these old soldiers found it was time to fight again. Happily they no longer use the sword; but instead they have the power of their influence, and their work is being well done. It could be seen in that crowd this afternoon, as it has been seen at every point where they have spoken. The respect which their past deeds commands is being increased by the patriotic, unselfish work of the present.

OUR COAST DEFENSES.

Lamont Submits His Estimates For the Year.

MUCH PROGRESS THE PAST YEAR.

The Liberty of the Last Congress Permitted a Good Deal of Work to Be Accomplished—Estimates For the Year and Future.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Secretary Lamont today transmitted to the secretary of the treasury his estimates of appropriations required by war department for the next fiscal year. The aggregate is $52,875,638.

The estimate for fortifications and sea coast defense has been increased to $15,824,298, an amount, Secretary Lamont says, which will be required to continue this work at its present rate of progress which has been appreciably advanced under the large appropriation which became available on July 1 last.

In connection with his estimate, the secretary has made public a statement of the condition of this work, the advance that has been made, and the results that can be effected by the increased appropriation which he asks.

On July 1, 1893, but one modern gun had been placed in position. On July 1, 1897, the department shall have completed defenses, with armament as follows:

Thirteen 12-inch, 37 10-inch, 8 8-inch and 4 rapid fire guns and 80 12-inch mortars.

The remainder of Secretary Lamont's letter transmitting the estimates of a historical nature, reviewing the progress made in sea coast defense. He speaks of the small appropriations made in past years.

Practically, therefore, it has, the secretary says, devolved upon the war department since 1893 to make provision for the completion of nearly all of the "placements."

"It appears," the secretary says, "that 17 out of 21 12-inch emplacements, 55 out of 66 10-inch emplacements, 20 out of 25 8-inch emplacements, 14 out of 16 rapid fire gun emplacements and 92 out of 156 12-inch mortar emplacements have been entirely provided for during the last four years, and that during the same a large part of those previously provided for have been prepared to receive their armament."

"For this favorable showing much is due to the liberality of congress at its recent session. The number of emplacements provided by the act of June 6, 1896, is just 50 in excess of the total provided by all preceding appropriations."

The progress in armament has been equally satisfactory. Figures are given to show that prior to the act of June 6, 1896, there had been completed 61 8-inch, 56 10-inch and 21 12-inch guns and 89 12-inch mortars completed, while there were 27 8-inch, 35 10-inch and 29 12-inch guns in process of construction.

The appropriation of June 6, 1896, while leaving the above completed totals unchanged, raised the totals in process of construction to 27 8-inch, 56 10-inch, 50 12-inch, 10 6-pounder rapid fire guns and 66 12-inch steel mortars.

"By the time a new appropriation can become available, says the letter, 'all the details of every type of carriage will have been fully determined. With sufficient money, therefore, the limit to future rapidity of progress in coast defense is the combined annual capacity of public and private plants to supply ordnance material. Upon this fact are based the department's estimates for the ensuing year. These estimates will provide the following:'

Guns—One 16-inch gun (finishing and assembling, forgings already provided), 21 sets 12-inch gun forgings, 21 sets 10-inch gun forgings, 144 all steel 12-inch mortars complete, 55 6-pounder rapid fire guns, with mounds and 200

HELD UP THE TOWN.

The Bold Raid of Robbers at Carney, O. T.

MADE PEOPLE GIVE UP THEIR CASH

Terrorized the Citizens by an Almost Constant Fusillade of Bullets—Tied the Postmaster and Son to a Tree—Big Parties Went In Pursuit.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Oct. 19.—Further particulars have been received here of the raid of the little town of Carney, about 30 miles east of here. Six masked and heavily armed outlaws, supposed to have been headed by the notorious "Dynamite Dick," one of the associates of the Daltons and Bill Doolen rode into the place and literally "held up" the town.

Carney is a town of about 300 people. The robbers entered the village from the north with a great show of firearms. Two of the outlaws entered the general store of B. Fouts and compelled him and his son to open the safe. After securing about $800 from them, they bound both the father and son, threw them upon horses and carried them about two miles out of town, where they tied them to a tree.

In the meantime the rest of the gang had entered the postoffice, but failing to secure anything of value, they raided the hotel compelling the proprietor and several traveling men who were stopping there to turn over their money, watches and jewelry. Several smaller stores were also raided. Before entering Carney the outlaws had taken the precaution to cut the telephone wires leading to Chandler, so that there might be no chance of a failure. During the raid the bandits kept up a fusillade of bullets in all directions terrorizing the inhabitants so that very little effort was made to resist the raiders.

It was some time after the bandits had left before order could be restored and an organized pursuit began. Finally, after considerable delay about 100 armed men began the chase. The pursuers were divided into three bands and went in different directions. At last reports the bandits had not been overtaken.

Later a band of four men, believed to have been members of the gang that raided Carney, appeared at Mulhall, held up a lively stable keeper and compelled him to supply them with a relay of fresh horses.

News was received at the United States marshal's office that two men, supposed to have been members of the gang, had stopped at a farmhouse about 15 miles northeast of here and demanded food. Several United States marshals, headed by Deputy Colcord, are in pursuit.

A TURK'S HARROWING TALE.

He Tells of the Horrible Massacres of Armenians in Constantinople.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Madji Rahsian is a Christian Turk who was of the passengers on board La Gascogne, which has arrived here. He comes to this country on a business trip. Through an interpreter he told about the massacres of Armenians. He was in Constantinople during the three days' massacre in August last.

During the three days 30,000 Armenians, he said, were slaughtered through the empire. Wagons filled with bodies were constantly passing through the streets of Constantinople. Carload after carload of these bodies were dumped into the sea. The sight was a sickening one and what added to its horror was the fact that in these wagons were piled the dead and dying and the feeble cries of the wounded for release could be heard from the carts, but the appeals were utterly unheeded.

Whether killed or wounded all were thrown into the sea. Mr. Rahsian says that the Europeans have not been molested up to date. He added that they are leaving Constantinople, fearing that they may be attacked.

TO FORCE THE DARDANELLES.

A Greek Paper Says This Is the Hancock's Mission.

ATHENS, Oct. 19.—A local paper publishes a dispatch from Constantinople which states that the United States guardship intends to force the Dardanelles and that in consequence two Turkish torpedo boats have gone to the Dardanelles and two others to Smyrna.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 19.—It is stated here that the United States minister, Mr. Terrell, is going to Smyrna to consult Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, who is in command of the squadron of United States warships which have rendezvoused there.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—The Neue Freie Presse of Vienna announces that steps to complete the mobilization of the Russian forces are being taken in several districts. All the officers on leave or retired, it is further stated, have been recalled.

It is intimated that these military movements are taken because it is expected that Russia will receive the European mandate to occupy Constantinople.

BAD MEN GOT SHOT.

They Snatched Up One House and Started to Break Up Another.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—David Pearl, a mulatto, has been shot and killed at Pondtown, a few miles from here, by Harmon Calaman, and John Beidleman, Pearl's companion, was seriously wounded.

Pearl and Beidleman went to the house of Otho Calaman, against whom Beidleman had a grudge because of the former's refusal to permit him to marry his daughter and began stoning it. They broke every window light in the house, and inflicted injury on Mrs. Calaman and the infant she was carrying in her arms. In addition, many articles of furniture and crockery were in the house were broken. One of the missiles hurled through a window was the knuckle end of the shin of a beef. This made a hole in the stovepipe and lodged there, being seen by the officers when they visited the house.

Satisfied with the damage done to the house of the father of Beidleman's sweetheart the two men loudly proclaimed that they would go to the home of Harmon Calaman, a brother Otho Calaman, who resides less than 100 yards away, and would "do him up." Harmon Calaman evidently overheard the threat of the men, for he went into the garden, a few feet from his house, armed with a shotgun. When the men began the same abuse of his family that they had inflicted upon his brother's household Harmon Calaman blazed away with his gun, killing Pearl instantly. He then went to his barn, reloaded the weapon and shot Beidleman, who had followed him into the orchard. The load lodged in Beidleman's left leg, inflicting a serious wound. Both men are in prison. Calaman bears a very good reputation.

FITZ. MAY FIGHT SHARKEY.

A San Francisco Club Offers a Purse of $10,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The National Sporting club has turned its attention to Robert Fitzsimmons and the prospects are that a match will be made between him and Tom Sharkey. The proposal made to Fitzsimmons by the National club was that he engage in a 10-round contest with Sharkey in this city some time in December for a purse of $10,000. Martin Julian, Fitzsimmons' manager, imposed the following conditions.

Purse of $10,000, winner to take all, and $1,000 for training and traveling expenses; club to deposit $5,000 as forfeit on signing articles, balance to be put up ten days before the match, Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern either Siler or Houseman of Chicago to referee. The match to take place before Dec. 3 on account of match with Corbett.

The National club has complied with Fitzsimmons' demands to the extent of placing $5,000 in the hands of a local sporting man, but it firmly declines to allow Fitzsimmons more than $800 for expenses.

BRYAN IN OHIO TODAY.

He Crossed the Line Early This Morning From Detroit.

TOLEDO, Oct. 19.—W. J. Bryan is making speeches in this state today, having left Detroit at 4 a. m. and crossed the line in the early hours of the morning.

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—It was one of his characteristic Sabbaths that William J. Bryan spent in this city Sunday. In the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan, he attended the Westminster Presbyterian church and listened to a sermon by the Rev. J. N. Patterson, who is a friend of Mr. Bryan. After the nominee and his wife held an informal and unexpected reception in the aisle near the pew which they occupied. Every person inside the edifice shook hands with them and a few started a faint ripple of applause.

In the afternoon the three-time nominee rested and at 6 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and John W. Tomlinson of Alabama, dined with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moore at the latter's home. Although it had not been publicly announced, it had been arranged that Mr. Bryan should address the weekly meeting of the Detroit Newsboys association last night. The meeting was prolonged beyond the usual hour waiting for the distinguished speaker to appear, but was finally dismissed. After most of the audience had passed out the carriage bearing Mr. Bryan arrived, and the crowd rushed back into the hall, cheering Bryan enthusiastically.

Mr. Bryan made a short, simple address to the newsboys, advising them earnestly as to the great value of character in all life's affairs and of respecting the rights of others. At the conclusion of his remarks the little hall rang with the boys' assurances that Bryan was "all right," despite the admonishments of Colonel Butler, president of the association.

Mr. Bryan looked greatly refreshed by his Sunday rest.

VICIOUS ATTACK ON AMERICA.

A Spanish Paper on Cleveland's Proposed Action.

MADRID, Oct. 19.—Commenting upon the statement contained in a dispatch from Washington that President Cleveland intends to intervene in Cuba in a manner tantamount to the recognition of the independence of the insurgents, The Imparcial declares that Spain ought to demand a full explanation of the Washington government.

"She cannot brook such a threat over her head," continues The Imparcial, "even for a single day. By what right do the United States define the time for Spain to settle a question of her internal administration? It must be affirmed before the whole world that the American government cannot impose any sort of terms upon us."

RIOT AT A BALL GAME.

Sunday Observance Constables Tried to Stop It at Portsmouth, O.

PORTSMOUTH, O., Oct. 19.—A riot was caused here Sunday afternoon by the Sunday Observance League attempting to break up a ball game between the Portsmouth and Chillicothe teams. Constables who tried to serve the warrants were chased off the grounds by a howling mob of spectators and narrowly escaped alive.

The crowd then surrounded the office of Squire Cole, where the ticket seller, Richard Thornton, was held. They threatened to release him and the riot alarm was turned in. The police finally dispersed the crowd. Over 150 arrests will be made on the charge of rioting.

A great many people fall into the error of considering that all or nearly all of the different species of snakes are poisonous. The very latest estimate made by the naturalists is that there are 657 varieties of them on the globe. Of that number 490, or over two-thirds of the whole lot, are as harmless as rabbits.

The People's Common Sense Medical Advice gives more plain useful information about the human body and all the ailments to which it is subject than any other single book in the English language. It is of one chain of knowledge in one volume, a large heavy book of 1000 pages, with over 5000 illustrations. The outlay of money, time and effort in producing this great book was paid for by the sale of the first edition of $2.00 copies at 50c each; and the profit has been used in publishing the present edition of half-a-million copies to be sent absolutely without price to all who will remit the small charge of 21 cents in one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only, address, with stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. ### A CLOSE SHAVE.

The Experience of an East Liverpool Tonsorial Artist.

Do all our readers know why a barber's pole or sign is always striped red, white and blue; why the blue was added to the red and white, and why sometimes you will find other colors added? If not, read this: When cupping or blood letting was the panacea for every ill the barber shop was always used. At first under the supervision of a physician, by and by, to save the physician's fee, the barber undertook the job himself. When he had the patronage of the upper crust he added the blue stripe to indicate the blue blood of his customers. Now, lastly, if you ever run across a sign with any other color added, the painter who decorated it or the barber who instructed him was ignorant of the traditional and time honored origin. It is certain that if Mr. Jacob Schenkle, whose parlor is at 138 Sixth street, had lived in New England or old England before, during and after the time when the thirteen states rebelled, blood letting would have been resorted to in his case, for it invariably was treated by making two incisions, one on each side of the spine. Close shaves from death was the order of the day and even if the victim survived the operation he was weakened and debilitated for months. Mr. Schenkle used Doan's Kidney Pills when last attacked. Here is his experience: "I have been troubled on and off for several years, probably the result of a neglected cold, with a weakness of my back and kidneys, severe pains across the loins around through my thighs, at times so bad that it was impossible for me to get out of bed, cramps through my limbs, and frequent attacks of dizziness. I was recommended to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the W. and W. Pharmacy. They so thoroughly removed my trouble and acted as a general tonic that I have had no bother since and could not have felt better."

Beds are quite an innovation in Russia, and many well to do houses are still unprovided with them. Peasants sleep on the top of their ovens. Middle class people and servants roll themselves up in the sheepskins and lie down near the stoves. Soldiers rest upon wooden cots without bedding, and it is only within the last few years that students in schools have been allowed beds.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN told a committee of pottery workers that laborers' wages were sufficient for the skilled workmen employed in our potteries.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN was a hot advocate of the Wilson bill. The Wilson bill has cursed, with a terrible, bitter curse, the workmen and mechanics of this land.

SOME six years since, William Jennings Bryan declared that the wages of men who worked in shops were too high. He is now begging for the votes of skilled labor. Will he get them? Nit.

UNION glassworkers, when your representatives appeared before the committee on ways and means, William Jennings Bryan, a member of that committee, denounced your comrades as public beggars.

THE infamous Wilson bill caused a heavy cut in the wages of the pottery workers of East Liverpool. Bryan, candidate for the presidency of the silver wing of Democracy, was Wilson's right hand man. Yet William Jennings Bryan dares to ask the pottery workers of East Liverpool to vote for him.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY, of Canton, has always and ever been the warm friend and advocate of the pottery workers of the country. He has done more than any other statesman in this great nation to protect the pottery industry and secure good wages to the workmen engaged therein. He is the apostle of apostles for protection to home industries.

IT WAS A GREAT MEETING.
It was a great meeting, an outpouring of the people to honor men who have already won honor. Those gray haired veterans who stood this afternoon before that great crowd and denounced the foes of the nation in no uncertain words are men who on other occasions found it necessary to defend our country from the assaults of its enemies. Then they drew their swords, and with a patriotism which even their foes were compelled to respect, battled for the right. It was not natural that they should do it again when the foes of national honesty and honor arose as one man, and, with a fierceness born of some sentiment not yet made plain, attacked the principle upon which is founded the liberty of the people; these old soldiers found it was time to fight again. Happily they no longer use the sword; but instead they have the power of their influence, and their work is being well done. It could be seen in that crowd this afternoon, as it has been seen at every point where they have spoken. The respect which their past deeds commands is being increased by the patriotic, unselfish work of the present.

Through an interpreter he told about the massacres of Armenians. He was in Constantinople during the three days' massacre in August last.

During the three days 30,000 Armenians, he said, were slaughtered through the empire. Wagons filled with bodies were constantly passing through the streets of Constantinople. Cartload after cartload of these bodies were dumped into the sea. The sight was a sickening one and what added to its horror was the fact that in these wagons were piled the dead and dying and the feeble cries of the wounded for release could be heard from the carts, but the appeals were utterly unheeded.

Whether killed or wounded all were thrown into the sea. Mr. Rahsian says that the Europeans have not been molested up to date. He added that they are leaving Constantinople, fearing that they may be attacked.

TO FORCE THE DARDANELLES.

A Greek Paper Says This Is the Emperor's Mission.

It is intimated that these military movements are taken because it is expected that Russia will receive the European mandate to occupy Constantinople.

BAD MEN GOT SHOT.

They Snatched Up One House and Started to Break Up Another.

Pearl and Beidleman went to the house of Otho Calaman, against whom Beidleman had a grudge because of the former's refusal to permit him to marry his daughter and began stoning it. They broke every window light in the house, and inflicted injury on Mrs. Calaman and the infant she was carrying in her arms. In addition, many articles of furniture and crockery were in the house were broken. One of the missiles hurled through a window was the knuckle end of the shin of a beef. This made a hole in the stovepipe and lodged there, being seen by the officers when they visited the house.

Satisfied with the damage done to the house of the father of Beidleman's sweetheart the two men loudly proclaimed that they would go to the home of Harmon Calaman, a brother Otho Calaman, who resides less than 100 yards away, and would "do him up." Harmon Calaman evidently overheard the threat of the men, for he went into the garden, a few feet from his house, armed with a shotgun. When the men began the same abuse of his family that they had inflicted upon his brother's household Harmon Calaman blazed away with his gun, killing Pearl instantly. He then went to his barn, reloaded the weapon and shot Beidleman, who had followed him into the orchard. The load lodged in Beidleman's left leg, inflicting a serious wound. Both men are in prison. Calaman bears a very good reputation.

FITZ. MAY FIGHT SHARKEY.

A San Francisco Club Offers a Purse of $10,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The National Sporting Club has turned its attention to Robert Fitzsimmons and the prospects are that a match will be made between him and Tom Sharkey. The proposal made to Fitzsimmons by the National club was that he engage in a 10-round contest with Sharkey in this city some time in December for a purse of $10,000. Martin Julian, Fitzsimmons' manager, imposed the following conditions:

Purse of $10,000, winner to take all, and $1,000 for training and traveling expenses; club to deposit $5,000 as forfeit on signing articles, balance to be put up ten days before the match, Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern. Either Siler or Houseman of Chicago to referee. The match to take place before Dec. 3 on account of match with Corbett.

The National club has complied with Fitzsimmons' demands to the extent of placing $5,000 in the hands of a local sporting man, but it firmly declines to allow Fitzsimmons more than $800 for expenses.

Generally fair; slightly warmer; light to fresh southwesterly winds.

BRYAN IN OHIO TODAY.

He Crossed the Line Early This Morning From Detroit.

TOLEDO, Oct. 19.—W. J. Bryan is making speeches in this state today, having left Detroit at 4 a. m. and crossed the line in the early hours of the morning.

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—It was one of his characteristic Sabbaths that William J. Bryan spent in this city Sunday. In the morning, accompanied by Mrs. Bryan, he attended the Westminster Presbyterian church and listened to a sermon by the Rev. J. N. Patterson, who is a friend of Mr. Bryan. After the nominee and his wife held an informal and unexpected reception in the aisle near the pew which they occupied. Every person inside the edifice shook hands with them and a few started a faint ripple of applause.

In the afternoon the three-time nominee rested and at 6 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and John W. Tomlinson of Alabama, dined with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moore at the latter's home. Although it had not been publicly announced, it had been arranged that Mr. Bryan should address the weekly meeting of the Detroit Newsboys association last night. The meeting was prolonged beyond the usual hour waiting for the distinguished speaker to appear, but was finally dismissed. After most of the audience had passed out the carriage bearing Mr. Bryan arrived, and the crowd rushed back into the hall, cheering Bryan enthusiastically.

Mr. Bryan made a short, simple address to the newsboys, advising them earnestly as to the great value of character in all life's affairs and of respecting the rights of others.

At the conclusion of his remarks the little hall rang with the boys' assurances that Bryan was "all right," despite the admonishments of Colonel Butler, president of the association.

Mr. Bryan looked greatly refreshed by his Sunday rest.

VICIOUS ATTACK ON AMERICA.

A Spanish Paper on Cleveland's Proposed Action.

MADRID, Oct. 19.—Commenting upon the statement contained in a dispatch from Washington that President Cleveland intends to intervene in Cuba in a manner tantamount to the recognition of the independence of the insurgents, The Imparcial declares that Spain ought to demand a full explanation of the Washington government.

"She cannot brook such a threat over her head," continues The Imparcial, "even for a single day. By what right do the United States define the time for Spain to settle a question of her internal administration? It must be affirmed before the whole world that the American government cannot impose any sort of terms upon us."

After denouncing the United States' "fictional neutrality" The Imparcial concludes as follows:

"The conduct of the United States will arouse general indignation. If Spain should remain alone in a conflict with the United States, Spaniards, by their own efforts, will know how to mark the difference between the noble defenders of their own property and the vile traffickers at Washington."

A great many people fall into the error of considering that all or nearly all of the different species of snakes are poisonous. The very latest estimate made by the naturalists is that there are 657 varieties of them on the globe. Of that number 490, or over two-thirds of the whole lot, are as harmless as rabbits.

It is hard to tell sometimes whether the shopper or the saleswoman feels the effect of shopping the most. Even the pleasant part of it involves standing, waiting, weariness, the both of them and more or less hurry and neglect of regular meals and regular habits. This leads to dyspepsia or constipation or both; they are two links in the chain of indigestion; another link is biliousness; headache is another; then follows backache, drowsiness, dizziness, an irritable temper and the "blues," all links of one chain binding down your energies and making life a burden. The way to throw off the whole trouble at once is to put the bowels and stomach into condition again. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do this quicker, more comfortably and more naturally than any other remedy in the world. They actually cure constipation so it stays cured; you don't become a slave to their use; they strengthen the stomach and gently stimulate the liver. They are mild but sure, like Nature itself. Don't let any druggist give you a grippin' pill. Insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

The Experience of an East Liverpool Tonsorial Artist.

Do all our readers know why a barber's pole or sign is always striped red, white and blue; why the blue was added to the red and white, and why sometimes you will find other colors added? If not, read this: When cupping or blood letting was the panacea for every ill the barber shop was always used. At first under the supervision of a physician, by and by, to save the physician's fee, the barber undertook the job himself. When he had the patronage of the upper crust he added the blue stripe to indicate the blue blood of his customers. Now, lastly, if you ever run across a sign with any other color added, the painter who decorated it or the barber who instructed him was ignorant of the traditional and time honored origin. It is certain that if Mr. Jacob Schenkele, whose parlor is at 138 Sixth street, had lived in New England or old England before, during and after the time when the thirteen states rebelled, blood letting would have been resorted to in his case, for it invariably was treated by making two incisions, one on each side of the spine. Close shaves from death was the order of the day and even if the victim survived the operation he was weakened and debilitated for months. Mr. Schenkele used Doan's Kidney Pills when last attacked. Here is his experience: "I have been troubled on and off for several years, probably the result of a neglected cold, with a weakness of my back and kidneys, severe pain across the loins around through my thighs, at times so bad that it was impossible for me to get out of bed, cramps through my limbs, and frequent attacks of dizziness. I was recommended to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the W. and W. Pharmacy. They so thoroughly removed my trouble and acted as a general tonic that I have had no bother since and could not have felt better."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Company, Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

AN EARLY MEETING.

The Generals Talked In Canton This Morning.

SPENT SUNDAY WITH MCKINLEY.

The Distinguished Guests Went to Church With the Major—A Large Number of Delegations Scheduled For This Week. A Big Day Saturday.

CANTON, O., Oct. 19.—The campaigning party of generals and veterans held a meeting here this morning at 7:30 and addressed a crowd that was immense for so early an hour in the morning.

At 8:30 they started on their eastern and northern trip through Ohio, visiting New Philadelphia, East Liverpool and other places previously announced and ending at Cleveland this evening. Starting from Toledo tomorrow morning the party goes into Michigan.

The party spent Sunday here and the greater part of the day was Major McKinley's guests. Their special train arrived early in the morning, and the party was at the McKinley home in time to go to morning services at the major's church, the First Methodist. In the party were General and Mrs. Alger of Detroit, General Daniel E. Sickles of New York, General O. O. Howard of Burlington, Vt.; General Thomas J. Stewart of Norristown, Pa.; Colonel I. N. Walker of Indianapolis, General Narden of Lowell, Mass.; Major John W. Burd of Sycamore, Ind.; Corporal James Tanner of Washington, George H. Hopkins of Detroit, Joseph Green of Detroit, Scott Hayes of Fremont, O., and General Wyckoff of Cincinnati, Ohio. General Commissioner Kirby and W. E. Gaitree of Columbus, who have joined the party for the trip through Ohio.

At 2:30 Sunday afternoon they joined Mrs. M. C. Barber, Mrs. McKinley's sister, and Mrs. Captain Heistand at dinner, and spent the afternoon at the McKinley home. In the evening Colonel Myron T. Herrick and wife of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kohlstaad of Chicago came down from Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Kohlstaad returned to Chicago on the night train and Mrs. Herrick to remain the guest of Mrs. McKinley for several days.

Major McKinley shows no signs of fatigue from his great week's work and is apparently as strong and robust as when the campaign opened. He was up early Sunday morning and went to church with his guests. He entertained company the greater part of the day and the day and evening found him in the best of spirits and equal to another week of hard work, which the announcements assure him.

The mails and the telegraph still bring communications concerning delegations to visit Major McKinley. The prospects are for a week very much the same as the one which closed Saturday night. Saturday is again the favorite day, but there is something for every day of the week. Announcements are now made as late as Oct. 31, and there are but two days between now and the which have not one or more delegations announced.

Illinois day will furnish, from present prospects, one of the most notable demonstrations of the campaign. Definite announcements have already been made of 15 special trains coming from all parts of the state, and the committee is partial to say that twice that number are partially arranged for. Colonel W. P. Read, a lifelong Democrat, is to be chief marshal of the parade and General Fitzsimmons his chief of staff. A carload of matched black horses will be brought by the visitors for the use of the marshal and his staff. W. J. Calhoun is to speak for the party at the demonstration to be made during the afternoon.

The week's announcements, so far as definitely made, are as follows: Today, Oct. 19—Business men of Seewickley, Pa.

Tomorrow, Oct. 20—East End Marching club of Cleveland; Republicans of the Sixth district of Maryland and the Second district of West Virginia.

Wednesday, Oct. 21—Illinois day, delegations from all over the state of Illinois; Garfield club of Warren, O.; McKinley East End regiment of Cleveland; Republican clubs of McKinley's native township in Trumbull county, O., coming from the precincts of Lowellville, Poland and Strouthers; Young Men's Marching club of Massillon in the evening.

Thursday, Oct. 22—Republicans of Barnesville, O.; Republicans of Marietta, O.

Friday, Oct. 23—American club of Cleveland; Republicans of Armstrong, Pa.; Republicans of Hornellsville, N.Y.

Saturday, Oct. 24—Employees of the Erie railroad at Huntington, Ind.; railroad employees of Missouri and Southern Illinois; residents of Piedmont, W. Va.; railway men's sound money clubs of the United States, under the auspices of the Railway Age; colored citizens of Allegheny county, Pa.; British Isles American McKinley club of Cleveland; Republicans of Henry county, O.; employees of Harwood's Lumber Exchange of Chicago.

speeches was increased. The long distance delegations exceeded all former pilgrimages in extent. Maryland sent 3,000 people; West Virginia, 2,500; Kentucky, 1,000; according to the reports of railroad people. Nearly 500 trainloads of people came in parties large or small from nearly half the states in the Union and a score of them were formally addressed. At times during the afternoon, a solid line of incoming and uniformed delegations were packed in on Market and Tuscarawas and Cherry streets in solid line for over a mile. As their drummajors fought their way toward the McKinley house, a steady stream of organized callers were retiring down the wide thoroughfares.

Twenty-eight organized parties had sent word of their coming and were regularly scheduled, but half as many more called.

The crush of the crowd that carried away fences and pieces of porch, made some women faint. Major McKinley made his speeches from a reviewing platform near the sidewalk.

It required several special trains of ten coaches each to transport the crowd constituting the delegation representing the employees of the Oliver Iron and Steel company, the Oliver Wire company, the Hainesworth Steel company, the Baker Chain and Wagon Iron Manufacturing company and the Monongahela Tinsmith company of Pittsburgh and the Oliver Coke and Furnace company of Uniontown, Pa.

The delegation was introduced by George T. Oliver, one of the managers of the company, who also spoke for a delegation of representative citizens of Fayette county, Pa. A delegation composed of two carloads of people, the youngest of whom was 50 years of age, and among whom was a number who had passed the four score mark, came as the Old People's McKinley club of Westerville, O., and were introduced by Rev. W. G. Downey. In the same crowd and listening to the tenth speech of the day were students of the Ohio Wesleyan university of Delaware and citizens in general of Delaware county, O., for whom H. S. Culver spoke; students of the Ohio Medical university at Columbus, introduced by Dr. C. M. Taylor, and students from other colleges of Columbus, for whom A. L. Cooke spoke, and farmers and citizens of Brecksville and vicinity in Northern Ohio.

The delegations from the Blue Grass state came in five or six trains, aggregating 58 coaches. They were addressed in two sections, the first speech being in response to Lieutenant Governor Worthington, who spoke for the famous Garfield club of Louisville and for the delegation in general, and to Colonel H. S. Kuhn, of the Louisville Anzeiger, who spoke for the German-Americans of Kentucky.

The central eastern and western counties of West Virginia filed to the platform 40 railroad coaches, coming in a train of five sections. State Senator Stuart Reed spoke for the party in general, and W. P. Croft for the colored people of West Virginia.

The Maryland delegation occupied five trains of ten coaches each, the first of which covered the distance of 500 miles, reached Canton early in the day, but when the last came and the demonstration was held it was necessary to turn on the electric lights. Addresses were delivered by J. Talbert for the party in general; William Olive Smith for the Anti-Wilson Bill society of Baltimore; Albert J. Cullison for the potter; William O. Peach for the employees of the transportation company.

Numerous other delegations made good showings.

CONFERRING WITH WATSON.

He May Give Out His Letter to Chairman Butler.

THOMSON, Ga., Oct. 19.—H. W. Reed, treasurer of the Populist national committee, Mr. Watson's personal representative at the recent Populist meeting at Chicago, and National Committee-man Washburn of Massachusetts have been in conference here with Mr. Watson. They refuse to tell the result.

Watson's close political friends in Thomson are firm in the belief that unless the electoral tickets are revised to suit him that his letter now in the possession of Chairman Butler will go to the public in its original form. They are also convinced that in this letter the nominee has expressed his opinion in his own vigorous and peculiar English of the fusion arrangements now obtaining in Kansas, Colorado and North Carolina.

MADE HER WAY DISABLED.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 19.—The American line steamship Park, Captain Watkins, has reached her dock in this city. She refused aid and made her way alone. There was not the slightest uneasiness among the passengers over the turn of affairs and the officers were all perfectly cool.

A Wave Spoiled Their Dinners.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The steamer La Cascoque has arrived, bringing $600,000 in gold. On Wednesday last the La Cascoque encountered a tremendous wave, which did some damage. The passengers were at dinner at the time. The shock forced almost everything from the steamer tables, completely spoiling the meal for all of the passengers.

WHO WILL SUCCEED KEANE?

Speculation Still Continues—University Directors Meet Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The program of the meeting of the directors of the Catholic university indicates a brief and businesslike session. The meeting begins at 10:30 on Wednesday in the senate chamber of McMahon hall. The sessions will be private, and the present indications are that no authoritative information as to the choice of Bishop Keane's successor will be made public after the meeting or until the pope has acted on the recommendation of the directors.

There appears to be no crystallization on any name for the rectorship to succeed Bishop Keane. Very Rev. Augustin F. Hewitt of New York, who has been mentioned, is said to be too far advanced in years to undertake the arduous work of managing the university. One of the members of the board has stated that it was at least settled that a man in the prime of life would be chosen. Moreover, Fr. Hewitt belongs to the Paulist order, and thus far the university has been directed by the secular clergy outside of the orders.

Concerning Bishops Horstman of Cleveland, Bacon of Georgia, Montgomery of California and Spalding of Peoria it is said that the pope's letter stating that "rotation in office" shall prevail at the university will make it inexpedient for any bishop or archbishop to accept the place, as the next rector is assured of being "rotated" out of office after a few years of service. The tenure of office of the bishops is for life, so that they are not likely to give up a place of such dignity and permanence for a temporary position, which, when it is terminated, would leave them without a diocese. The name of Rev. Dr. Brann of St. Agnes' parish, New York, continues to be prominently mentioned. Archbishop Chapelle of Santa Fe is also mentioned, although the objections already stated make it unlikely that he would accept. It was he, who, when in charge of St. Matthew's church here, bought the tract where the university is now located for the comparatively small sum of $28,000.

In some quarters connected with the university the impression prevails that Cardinal Satolli knows who the next rector will be, and that the personal information he will be able to lay before the pope at an early day will be decisive in determining the rectorship. The expectation is that the new rector will not enter upon his duties before the Christmas holidays.

A METHODIST CEREMONY.

Cornerstone of an American University Building to Be Laid.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A significant event in the advancement of American education will take place in this city on next Wednesday afternoon, when will be laid the cornerstone of the Hall of History, the first of the great group of buildings to form the home of the new well-known American university. Last March ground was broken for the university in the presence of a distinguished gathering. President Cleveland had been invited to lay the cornerstone. The ceremonies of the cornerstone laying are to begin at 2 o'clock and the following program will be observed: Singing of the American university hymn which has been composed by the Rev. George Lansing Taylor, Ph. D., of Connecticut. There will be a prayer, responsive reading of the Scriptures and addresses by the following: Bishop John F. Hurst, chancellor of the university; ex-Governor Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania; Bishop A. W. Wilson, D. D., of Baltimore; the Rev. James M. Buckley, D. D., editor of The Christian Advocate, of New York; Bishop Charles H. Fowler, D. D., of Buffalo, and Bishop Charles C. McCabe, D. D., of Fort Worth. The laying of the cornerstone proper will be according to the ritual of the Methodist Episcopal church and after this the Masonic bodies and other organizations will go through a ritual of their own.

Over $200,000 will be spent in the erection of the Hall of History, and when complete the structure will be worthy to rank among the foremost of the magnificent government buildings for which Washington is celebrated. It will be constructed of white marble.

LIMA, O., Oct. 19.—W. L. Porter, a prominent citizen, was assaulted, knocked down and his skull crushed on the street, presumably by robbers, though he was found dying before his body had been rifled.

Left With $10,000.

The Rovers have made arrangements to play the Niles football team at West End park, Nov. 7. Numerous letters were written asking for dates and another appeal was made for admission to the league. A meeting will be held this evening for the purpose of electing officers.

St. Clair township has not had a single Republican meeting this campaign, and the residents are loud in their requests that a few speakers be sent there. The matter has been brought before the committee, and arrangements will be made to have several meetings held in the township.

The porter of the Thompson House left his horse and wagon in the Midway alley this morning while he went into the sample room to get some luggage. While he was absent the animal decided to leave, and went down the alley at a rapid rate, upsetting barrels and boxes in its mad career. Numerous efforts were made to stop the animal, and it was finally captured on Broadway before much damage was done.

HOT IN LISBON.

One Silverite Hissed and Another Knocked Down.

LISBON, Oct. 19.—[Special]—Politics make up a warm subject in Lisbon these days. Professor Powers, a Chicago silverite, talked for Bryan in the court house Saturday night, and was hissed and jeered, so senseless were his argument and stereopticon views.

Frank McCord, the well known Republican politician, heard a man say Major McKinley had robbed his mother of all she had, and she was now in the poorhouse. He gave the man an opportunity to retract, and when he did not do it, knocked him down. Then he used him to wipe up the street, and in other ways demonstrated his advocacy of the major.

AFTER ALTGELD.

Doctor Lee Scored Chicago's Anarchistic Politician.

In his sermon at the First Presbyterian church last evening Doctor Lee referred to the campaign and Governor Altgeld, severely scoring the Chicago politician for daring to suggest that the campaign should be wound up with a big demonstration the last Sunday before election. The governor was denounced for his disregard of the Christian Sabbath, and the doctor took occasion to mention in a general way the sacrilegious utterances of some political speakers. He also mentioned that another influence, prayer, would effect the result.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

An Accident to the Morning Train at Industry.

As the morning train was entering the switch at Industry the last coach jumped the track. Fortunately no damage was done, and after some difficulty the car was again placed on the rails. The accident was caused by the rails spreading. The west bound train was delayed for a short time by the happening.

Iced Water Attracts Poisons.

A scientific paper adds these new terrors to iced water as a beverage: It says the water possesses the quality of attracting to itself the poisonous gases exhaled by the lungs and the pores of the body. One of the best ways to purify a freshly painted room is to set about it basins of iced water, changing them every few hours. The water in these basins will be found to be deadly poisonous.

A NOTABLE BANK.

The Most Independent One In the World Is In Norway.

Probably the most independent and aristocratic bank in the world is the Norges or national bank of Norway. It seems to be wholly indifferent to doing business of any kind, and what it does do it insists upon doing in its own deliberate way. Socially the bank is of considerable importance. The directors meet twice a week, and these friendly gatherings are said to be most enjoyable affairs. Loans and discounts form the chief subjects of conversation. No loan or discount can be made without the approval of three of the directors.

Suppose the directors are to hold a meeting on Wednesday and you want to borrow $5,000 on Monday. You apply to Norges bank and are told that the matter will be taken under consideration at the directors' meeting on Wednesday, and you may look for an answer to your application by Thursday. It does not matter in the least that you want the $5,000 on Monday and not Thursday. You simply have to wait.

The origin of this institution was as peculiar as its management is unusual. Soon after the nominal union of Norway and Sweden, in 1814, the latter country began to feel the need of greater money facilities to meet the demands of the rapidly increasing commerce. The problem of securing the necessary capital for a great national institution was a very simple one for the Norwegian government.

It raised stockholders for the bank just as it raised soldiers for its armies. Every well to do citizen was compelled to take so much stock. He was always at liberty to take more if he chose, but always in amounts divisible by five. Bookkeeping was made easy on a new principle, in accordance with which sums ending in other figures than five and zero were to be excluded from the books.

This national bank is also a pawnshop. It is authorized by law to lend money on any nonperishable goods, provided they can be deposited in the bank and kept under lock and key. For this service it charges rather less than the usual pawnbroker's interest, which may perhaps account for the rarity of private pawnshops in Norway. In the regular loan department the curious rule is enforced that loans may not be made for less than one month nor for more than six and only for sums of at least $120.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

COST OF FIRING BIG GUNS.

Some of the Practice Shooting Induced in Blows Away a File of Money.

The days are long past when we English sang in a free and easy way:

Two jolly Frenchmen and one Portuguese, One jolly Englishman could lick them all three.

We are ready enough now to give our possible adversaries all credit for pluck and perhaps for technical skill, and yet, as regards practice in the use of their weapons, we still have them at an immeasurable disadvantage. This factor is commonly omitted from newspaper comparisons, but it would probably have more weight than any other in determining the issue of an actual struggle.

Two duellists may each have lion hearts and each the best Damascus blades, but if one has ten times more practice in the art of fencing than the other it is long odds that he will win. So it is with our navy. It has a far greater knowledge of ships, acquired by actual firing practice, than any other power. And the reason of this is precisely because such knowledge is a very expensive thing to acquire, and England is the only nation that cares to afford it.

It is probable that where France, the next naval power, spends a million in sea cruising and gun firing, we spend five. From every gun in our navy having a caliber of 10 inches and under there are fired each quarter eight rounds of ammunition by way of practice and from all guns heavier than 10 inch four rounds a quarter, irrespective of the additional rounds used in the annual "prize firing." The heavy expenditure involved in this item alone may be hinted at by observing that every full round fired from a 6 inch gun costs $16, from an 8 inch gun $30, from a 12 inch gun $128 and from the 16.25 inch, or 110 ton gun, as much as $300. And these figures are only a small part of the story, for the life of a very heavy gun is not a long one, and though a 6 inch gun can fire as many as 500 rounds, 70 or 80 full rounds are the limit of the 110 ton. After firing that amount they will both require a new inner tube, a costly matter enough.—Chambers' Journal.

"Yes, and it fizzled. Johnson was a street car conductor at one time."

"Well?"

"I made the mistake of ringing twice, and he took it as a compliment; thought it was a signal for him to go ahead."

—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A NOTABLE BANK.

Probably the most independent and aristocratic bank in the world is the Norges or national bank of Norway. It seems to be wholly indifferent to doing business of any kind, and what it does do it insists upon doing in its own deliberate way. Socially the bank is of considerable importance. The directors meet twice a week, and these friendly gatherings are said to be most enjoyable affairs. Loans and discounts form the chief subjects of conversation. No loan or discount can be made without the approval of three of the directors.

Suppose the directors are to hold a meeting on Wednesday and you want to borrow $5,000 on Monday. You apply to Norges bank and are told that the matter will be taken under consideration at the directors' meeting on Wednesday, and you may look for an answer to your application by Thursday. It does not matter in the least that you want the $5,000 on Monday and not Thursday. You simply have to wait.

The origin of this institution was as peculiar as its management is unusual. Soon after the nominal union of Norway and Sweden, in 1814, the latter country began to feel the need of greater money facilities to meet the demands of the rapidly increasing commerce. The problem of securing the necessary capital for a great national institution was a very simple one for the Norwegian government.

It raised stockholders for the bank just as it raised soldiers for its armies. Every well to do citizen was compelled to take so much stock. He was always at liberty to take more if he chose, but always in amounts divisible by five. Bookkeeping was made easy on a new principle, in accordance with which sums ending in other figures than five and zero were to be excluded from the books.

This national bank is also a pawnshop. It is authorized by law to lend money on any nonperishable goods, provided they can be deposited in the bank and kept under lock and key. For this service it charges rather less than the usual pawnbroker's interest, which may perhaps account for the rarity of private pawnshops in Norway. In the regular loan department the curious rule is enforced that loans may not be made for less than one month nor for more than six and only for sums of at least $120.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

COST OF FIRING BIG GUNS.

Some of the Practice Shooting Induced in Blows Away a File of Infantry.

The days are long past when we English sang in a free and easy way:

We are ready enough now to give our possible adversaries all credit for pluck and perhaps for technical skill, and yet, as regards practice in the use of their weapons, we still have them at an immeasurable disadvantage. This factor is commonly omitted from newspaper comparisons, but it would probably have more weight than any other in determining the issue of an actual struggle. Two duelists may each have lion hearts and each the best Damascus blades, but if one has ten times more practice in the art of fencing than the other it is long odds that he will win. So it is with our navy. It has a far greater knowledge of ships, acquired by actual firing practice, than any other power. And the reason of this is precisely because such knowledge is a very expensive thing to acquire, and England is the only nation that cares to afford it.

It is probable that where France, the next naval power, spends a million in sea cruising and gun firing, we spend five. From every gun in our navy having a caliber of 10 inches and under there are fired each quarter eight rounds of ammunition by way of practice and from all guns heavier than 10 inch four rounds a quarter, irrespective of the additional rounds used in the annual "prize firing." The heavy expenditure involved in this item alone may be hinted at by observing that every full round fired from a 6 inch gun costs £16, from an 8 inch gun £30, from a 12 inch gun £128 and from the 16.25 inch, or 110 ton gun, as much as £300. And these figures are only a small part of the story, for the life of a very heavy gun is not a long one, and though a 6 inch gun can fire as many as 500 rounds, 70 or 80 full rounds are the limit of the 110 ton. After firing that amount they will both require a new inner tube, a costly matter enough.—Chambers' Journal.

"Well?"

"I made the mistake of ringing twice, and he took it as a compliment; thought it was a signal for him to go ahead."—Cincinnati Enquirer.
